次の文章を読んで、あとの各問に答えなさい。

As I get older, I realize that routine is a very important part of life. I probably notice this more than other people because I work at home and follow the same routine every day. My day usually starts around 7 a.m. when I get up. I eat breakfast and read the newspaper, and then go for a long walk. I start to work around 10 a.m., and work until noon. I then have lunch, read a book and fall asleep. I am back at my desk by 2 p.m. and I work until 6 p.m., and then I take a bath. After dinner, I read or watch television. I go to bed around midnight. I have done this for many years, and this has become my routine.

If anything happens to change my routine, it makes me a little tired. However, feeling a little tired is not a bad thing. Meeting friends and visiting grandchildren change my routine, but it is fun. So it's OK. But I always feel at my best when I am doing the same thing every day.

I have often wondered why routine is so important for ⁽¹⁾ only / people / also / but / animals / not. Our dog loves routine. She wants to eat at the same time every day. I have also read that routine is very important for babies. They become unhappy if the same things don't happen at the same time every day. When I think about all this, we probably have a memory from ancient times. At that time, leaving home for hunting was full of danger. So, they .

However, routine can also become boring. Repeating the routine can make us bored. Then, ⁽³⁾ why does routine give us happiness? It's not just because doing routine things gives us a safe feeling, but because I enjoy doing them.

A famous thinker says in his book that we cannot get happiness without effort. He thinks that happiness is a single thing, and that we must work hard to get this single thing. In my opinion, happiness is not a single thing. ⁽⁴⁾ It is a collection of small things. We enjoy doing them every day. People think that money or success will bring them happiness. But I'm sure that these things may give us some pleasure, but this continues only for a short period of time. As soon as you have got them, you forget how good they are and the sense of happiness becomes .

We can't count the word "happiness" in English. This is a mistake, I believe. But I think that we can count it. In my opinion, we can get happiness by collecting as many small daily happinesses as possible. As a person gets more small daily happinesses, he or she will be happier. But it is also necessary to that you are happy while you are enjoying these small happinesses. If we don't, they won't make us happier.

I can enjoy the daily happinesses. , waking up without the use of an alarm clock, and going for long walks along the local river.

I also enjoy another kind of small happinesses because I . I can enjoy seeing baby birds in a nest, feeling a cool wind on my face at the end of summer, watching a bright red sunset, and so on.

In fact, I once checked this idea in the early 1980's. I was teaching several English classes at a company three times a week. I asked them to tell me their happiness level from one: "not happy at all" to five: "very happy". Then I asked them to write a list of their daily happinesses. The results were very clear. The people with a level of happiness all had a number of small happiness in their daily routine.

Everybody wants to be happy. We can even say that happiness is one of the most important goals in life. So if my words above are true, then the answer to getting happiness is not getting a lot of money, but .

Of course, getting a lot of money is nice, too...

JAPANESE CHICKEN CURRY

*Ingredients (for 8 people)

- 400g chicken
- 4 onions
- 2 potatoes
- 2 carrots
- 6 cups of water
- 6 pieces of Japanese *curry roux
- (for *topping) 4 boiled eggs

Recipe (cooking time: 1 hour)

- Step 1. Cut chicken, onions, potatoes and carrots into small pieces.
- Step 2. Cook chicken, onions, potatoes and carrots together over medium heat until the chicken changes color.
- Step 3. Put them in a large pot and add water. Boil on low heat for 20 minutes.
- Step 4. Put in all pieces of roux and cook on low heat for 5 more minutes.
- Step 5. Serve your curry on top of rice. Put a half of boiled egg for topping.
- Step 6. Now you are finished! Enjoy!

Advice

- Put 'hot spice' in it to make your curry hotter.
1 more spoon for 'medium-hot', 2 more spoons for 'super-hot'.
- If you do not like your curry hot, you can put in honey in step 4.

Anna: What are you making, Sachi? What will you make with all these onions?

Sachi: I'm making Japanese chicken curry.

Anna: Wow! I love it, but I don't know how to make it. Isn't it difficult?

Sachi: Not really. Why do you think so?

Anna: Because there are many things in it and I think it would take much time to cook it.

Sachi: No, it's very simple and easy. I have a recipe for it.

we cook it together?

Anna: I'd love to. I've never dreamed of making ① it in Japan.

Sachi: Sure. Now, we are on the first step of this recipe. Let's start cutting all these ingredients.

Anna: OK. ...Oh wait, Sachi! We have only one carrot.

Sachi: It's fine, Anna. This recipe is for eight people.

Anna: Oh, I got ② it. We have only four people; your parents, you and me.

Sachi: Yes.

(10 minutes later)

Sachi: Now, we are going to cook all these ingredients together.

Anna: How long will we cook them?

Sachi:

Anna: Oh, that's right. It's on the recipe. After that, we will boil it for 20 minutes, right?

Sachi: Yes, on low heat. So can you get some water ready?

Anna: Sure.

Sachi: Thank you. By the way, I didn't know you were such a good cook. Do you cook a lot in your home country?

Anna: Yes, I do. (3) [① because / ② my / ③ cooking / ④ help / ⑤ with / ⑥ I often / ⑦ mother] my family is very large.

Sachi: How big is your family?

Anna: There are seven people in my family: my grandmother, grandfather, father, mother, younger sister and brother and me. We live together.

Sachi: Wow, that's a big family.

Anna: Yes, I always need to make a lot of food in a short time. But that's not the only problem.

Sachi: More problems you have?

Anna: Yes, my sister can't eat egg because she is *allergic to it. My grandmother can't have milk.

Sachi: I see. In my family, my father cannot eat peaches. Cooking for the whole family isn't easy, is it?

Anna: (4) No, never.

(30 minutes later)

Sachi: OK, cut the eggs in half. Put a piece of them on the top. Now dinner is ready. Please try (3) it before it gets cold.

Anna: Thank you. Hmm..., this is very, very nice! But this curry isn't as hot as I thought.

Sachi: Did you catch (4) it? I put a secret ingredient.

Anna: Did you? Is it on the recipe, too?

Sachi: Actually yes. You can change the recipe.

Anna: Really? How can I change (5) it?

Sachi: If you use beef, not chicken, it would be "Japanese beef curry".

Anna: I see. In that case, how much beef would we need?

Sachi: We always need the same size of meat.

Anna: OK. So, if I use *pork...?

Sachi: It will be "Japanese pork curry". Like this, there are a lot of kinds of curry. And if you put “tonkatsu” on the curry at last, it will be “katsu-curry”. That’s my father’s favorite dish.

Anna: Oh, really? Then, let’s make “katsu-curry” next time!

Sachi: That’s a good idea. Don’t forget that my father likes ‘super-hot’ curry.

Anna: I see. ⁽⁵⁾ My image of curry has changed.

Sachi: Changed how?

Anna: It was not simple, but easy. There are many ingredients in it, but easy to cook it. I can make it for my family when I go back home.

Sachi: I’m sure they’ll love it! But don’t forget to leave out for your sister.
